New York State Department of Veterans' Services

In 2023, New York State elevated its Division of Veterans' Services to the Department of Veterans' Services, marking the creation of the state's first new agency in over 50 years.

Originally founded in 1945 to help World War II veterans transition to civilian life, the Division previously operated under the NYS Executive Department, which oversees services not assigned to other departments. Now a standalone department, it functions as a one-stop-shop for the state's veterans.

New York State Veterans' Services Budget: Analysis Findings

- When Veterans' Services transitioned to a standalone department, administrative costs more than doubled, even though the number of employees and offices remained nearly unchanged.
- The Veterans Cemetery, had initial costs for land acquisition and the establishment of the cemetery, which officially opened in 2023. After the initial expenses, ongoing maintenance will require less funding, enabling the DVS to reallocate resources to other priorities.
- Another new initiative, the Capital Projects program provided $9 million in grants in 2023 to veteran membership organizations.
- From 2019 to 2021, the budget for DVS, specifically allocated for Veteran Benefit Advising, remained unchanged at $6,242,000; however, in 2022, the budget increased significantly to $7,646,000, a 22.5% growth, signaling a prioritization of advising programs to assist veterans in accessing benefits such as healthcare, housing, and education. This growth continued in 2023, with the budget rising to $8,077,000, a 5.6% increase.
- Continued growth underscores an investment in innovative programs designed to address the evolving needs of veterans.

Conclusion

Establishment of the New York State Department of Veterans' Services highlights:

- A major initiative to address veterans' unique needs
- Enhanced service delivery, outreach, and gap closure at federal and local levels
- Persistent challenges identified: underfunding relative to other states and increasing demand for supportive services
- Data-driven policymaking for effective decision-making
- Diversifying funding sources to ensure sustainability
- Strengthening collaboration with government and non-government organizations
- Adopting proven strategies from other states and leverage the new departmental structure
- Goal: Provide veterans with better care, resources, and opportunities
- Improved quality of life for veterans and strengthened contributions to state communities and economy
